LOBS CAN THROW PLAYERS OFF

The lob is particularly effective if used several times in a row. Just keep your lob landing deep in the court and see if your opponent starts missing some overheads.

Hitting lobs can discourage and annoy a net player, taking him out of his game plan and getting him to think too much about his overhead. Once you have him thinking instead of playing, his game is in trouble.

THIS IS A HAMMER By Samantha Mazzotta

Reface Cabinets for Like-New Look

Q: I have kitchen cabinets that are several years old and look pretty dingy. I thought about restaining them, but would probably need to strip the old finish, and it looks like a lot of work. I don't really want to paint them, as I just want a fresher look to the wood. Can you help?
-- Bill in Sarasota, Fla.

A: You could look into cabinet refacing, rather than stripping and restaining. There's still a bit of elbow grease involved, but refacing can make the cabinets look entirely new while only replacing the facade.

In refacing, the doors and drawer fronts of the cabinets are totally replaced. Thin strips of veneer are applied to the cabinet frames to match the new doors. The cabinet hardware -- hinges and pulls -- are usually replaced as well. The cabinets themselves don't come off the walls at all -- refacing simply changes the look of the forward-facing parts.

The cost is significantly less than replacing the cabinets. It's about $1,000 on the cheap end, where a kid-proof material called rigid thermofoil is used, and goes up from there. Refacing with laminate or wood will cost more.

To do a refacing, you can work with a cabinet refacing specialist (some big home-improvement stores have a section just for this type of contract), or you can do it yourself. Either way, photos of the current kitchen should be taken, as well as measurements of your cabinets -- their length, width and depth, the length and width of the doors and drawers -- so that the correct-sized materials can be ordered.

Refacing materials are often sold by the unit (a unit making up one cabinet or drawer) or even by the piece.

It helps to have some basic carpentry skills, or know someone who does, to address any issues that come up before or during the project. And take advantage of the project -- while the cabinets are emptied out -- to fix any dings or dents within the cabinets themselves.

HOME TIP: When repairing or refinishing cabinets, keep track of the hardware and screws by placing each door's hardware into a small plastic bag and taping inside the corresponding cabinet.
